The Capitola Historical Museum proudly presents:

Capitola History - It's About Time

There's not a moment to lose. In recent weeks, time's been ripe, time's running out, time's waiting for no man, times are changing, and time's up. To explore the theme and have a bit of fun along the way, we're employing an old tool known as the cliché.

--Carolyn Swift, from the museum's newsletter Capitola Sunset

With the train came an explosion in tourism for Capitola. It became easier for the masses to travel here and the train always runs on time.

The lens of the camera captures moments that are frozen in time for all to enjoy later. Photographs, innocently taken, play a large part in telling Capitola's story.

Capitola's beach and lagoon have always played a major part in our tourism. Capitola, the west coast's oldest resort, began as a tent village welcoming visitors from our inland valleys looking to beat the heat.

The museum is open on Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday from Noon until 4:P.M. We are funded in part by the City of Capitola and generously supported by the community through private donations. For more information visit our web site at www.capitolamuseum.org, or better yet, visit us live during open hours.
